The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He tells Aunt Polly that he has been on an adventure. During supper, Aunt Polly asks Tom if he has been to school that day. Tom lies and says he was sick, so Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom and the new arrival of his uncle, Judge Thatcher, are later seen wandering and vagrant. Tom and his uncle, Judge Thatcher, eventually choose the newcomers as the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of medicinal tincture. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.

After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects wistfully on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. His clothes are still soiled from the alley, he has been caught stealing in the street, and he has run away from school. As he enters the house, he notices Aunt Polly’s surprised expression and his mouth falls open. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house late that night. He is not happy, for he has been caught stealing and has been whipped. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom meets a man who offers him a job. Tom accepts the job and eventually agrees to work for the money.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his soiled clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jon passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white ally,” a kind of sandwich. Jon almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his task.
Global Inequalities And Higher Education

How fast are we closing cross-country inequalities in literacy? The preceding visualization shows that, despite the fact that literacy is today higher than ever, there are still important challenges in many developing countries.
