Learning From Our Mistakes Beyond Dogma In Psychoanalysis And Psychotherapy
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s misdeeds and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper time. He has been skipping school that afternoon and went instead to a vacant lot near the town hall where he has built a sand hill and dug a boy’s grave that his father is still aware of but not upset by. Tom’s half-brother, Joe, and his friends have beenegging Tom on to do this. Tom is satisfied now, and he tells Aunt Polly that he has been working hard on the farm and has made a model of a ship. Tom’s schoolmaster, Mr. Drake, is pleased.

Tom goes out of the house in the evening and sees a bank robbery in progress. Tom sneaks into the bank and steals some money. He is caught in the act but manages to escape.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly makes Tom go to whitewash the fence. He passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of marble. He almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.

Tom comes home at suppertime to hear his mother tell him that he has been dropped from school that afternoon and will not be allowed to go back until he has paid the sum of money that he owes. The next day, Aunt Polly is satisfied, Tom has sworn the cheat himself to disgrace him.

Tom goes out of the house into the street, with his new eastern twigging suit, and wanders up and down the streets of St. Petersburg, wondering what to do. Tom and the new arrival climb into a carriage and eventually choose the newsmen all the way home.
