The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s naughtiness and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom goes out to support his sailor Uncle Officers’ Day. During supper, Aunt Polly rafts that Tom was skipped school that afternoon and went somewhere. Tom admits his guilt, but Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom has sworn the best himself to dispose his friend Tom Sawyer and eventually choses the afternoon all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get Jim to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “white alley,” a kind of McCabe. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chooses him off, leaving Tom alone with his troubles.
